VELOCITIE Offers Value-Added Services to Orion's OnPoint Product Suite

GREEN BAY, WISCONSIN, USA and RICHMOND HILL, ONTARIO, CANADA – June 5, 2006 – VELOCITIE Integration, Inc., a leading provider of integrated GIS solutions and Orion Technology Inc., a web-GIS software and integration services company, announced today that the two organizations have signed a business partnership agreement. Under terms of the partnership, VELOCITIE will provide value-added services for Orion's OnPoint™ suite of web-GIS software solutions.

The two companies have begun exploring opportunities together in the utilities, local government and telecommunications industries. Orion Technology's flagship product, OnPoint™, is enjoying growing support in the GIS community, both domestically and internationally, as a standard for providing geographic data through intuitive internet and intranet web-based user interfaces. OnPoint provides out-of-the-box implementation capabilities, powerful administration tools for customizing and managing the web portal, and unparalleled data-integration features.

VELOCITIE assists organizations in the energy, municipal, and telecommunications industries in improving their operations, service quality and customer satisfaction by providing best practice implementation strategies and cost-effective GIS solutions. They have extensive experience in the GIS industry and have served some of the largest and most innovative infrastructure management companies in North America. VELOCITIE uses state-of-the-art geospatial technology to help their clients improve customer service and increase the value of their current investments in technology. As such, Orion's OnPoint Software Suite is a natural extension to their robust network of alliances with leading software and services firms, and will enhance VELOCITIE's end-to-end solutions capabilities.

"VELOCITIE has a wealth of experience in the energy and telecommunications industries," commented Faizal Hasham, Director of Sales and Marketing for Orion Technology Inc. "Orion is becoming more established in these fields and we are excited to be working with VELOCITIE to continue to grow our presence."

"We are always looking for solution partners who can help us bring value to our client's business operations. Orion Technology's innovative product suite combined with the company's approach towards customer satisfaction is an excellent addition to our solution offerings," stated Bart Koenig, President of VELOCITIE.
